

a moralist has consumed the evening asking what infidelity really means...
suggesting that the heavens and all order is disturbed by the betrayals.

i look up.

the moon is giggling.

the truth is it only means that what fidelity means is less important.

an evening better spent somewhere else.

wf.h.

2019