

every old village cafe has its long standing arguments that everyone shares in.
the young men wonder if anyone could.
the old men think something dark is loose in the village.
why is she so slow to seduce.
loose talk and wilder speculations after each failure.
sometimes memory loss requires patience.
so they began to believe that it was the childbirth death
of her mother
and others that it was a curse brought in by a stranger...
instead of spending
years in a small kitchen cooking for so many brothers.

every old village cafe.
