

there is no reason to struggle with each other over the meaning of evolution.
it is the struggle that happened first and allowed us to be in the argument that ended without friendship.

my interest may be yours
but mine is first.

this is how to say farewell to neanderthals
and their exercise in common sense.

nothing stays as it is

except dead meat at the bottom of a cold well.

evolution.

wf.h.

2020