

good and evil are not one question... god is too tricky for that.

it is the jigsaw puzzle of good and the jigsaw puzzle of evil.

god takes one piece from each box and places it in the other box.

the puzzle can never be finished.

i am not sure what i think of the parent who makes sure the child will fail.

what does laughter mean when that god laughs knowing he made you so you will try again in the morning while giving thanks for his mercy.

good and evil are not one question.
