

the living costumes in the imagination closet are available...

some are optional.

some are not.

some are self conscious.

some are unsure.

some are shy.

timed and untimed events

in and out of reality

with genius and blackouts.

clown suits.

acrobatic dramatists.

the changing room exists in both hemispheres of our minds.

some are even curled up in our amygdala eating the flower stems and working their way up.

most are purchased at the secondhand resale clothing shop

some come off the boutique racks ready to wear

but the creative have learned how to sew with the intricate emotions requiring new fashions or what makes them feel new.
