

the basic reality is there.

a word generated for it.

then the attachments occur.

running

walking

eating...

descriptors added

differentiating the existence

it has at the moment...

running

running away

running toward

desperately running

desperately running in darkness

desperately running in the panic of darkness.

things have a way

of becoming

elaborated

so we can understand what we mean.

i think of the word no.

it owns the most iterations.

no

is a fully understood reality

attached to almost every possibility for the poor

reducing the elaborations

to no.

not now.

no not ever.

no.
