

christmas.

not much money.

i was taken to a toy store and told i could choose just one thing.

so i chose the store.

for a moment when nothing moved

i thought yes

then the distance between the aisle at the back of the store and the painful exit

explained what was faster than the speed of light.

parental slap for christmas.

wf.h.

2022