

a philosophy of not jumping around was never advanced by the frog jumping around in the frying pan...

the apologist went on to argue if i would have jumped sooner there would not have been a frying pan.

the snake burps agreeing with the apologist and ends the conversation advancing his version of philosophical truth adding an earthly naturalism
with a haiku...

jumping frog
did not make it
no splash in the pond.

you can tell that the snake has not been classically trained cutting word

seasonal reference five seven five

but what are rules when you are hungry and the jumping frog is there.

philosophy of not jumping around.
