

pollen

and why do we need what makes us sneeze uncontrolled

violently

through the mist of watery eyes and tormented nostrils.

perhaps this is synchronicity in instinctual behaviors.

perhaps it is not meant to be here in the way we think.

perhaps pollen needs us to push it further along and we are just a rest area before it continues.

well the way we ignore reality is the same way we ignore all the lessons of the past or the pasts that we should not have had.

the punishment of spring is that it does not care where it is sending things as long as they get there.

pollen.
