

when they tell you anything can happen
 what is the preparation plan.
 the rainbow anarchists rummage through the cliches of their immediacy
 and the left behinds of the conservative predationists.

not everyone shows up for the same wine party.
some exclusivity is applied.
 was the invitation nailed on a telephone pole.
 was the invitation a watermarked summons of power.

i have prepared
myself for the vision of the visions they have.
 i know what i can expect from what they expect... bareback riding cats in a venice dredged canal hallucination wearing shimmering third eye sequins speaking in tongues about political existentialism and charity events before their moment of death in broken high heels floating in astral projections and all natural home remedies with sage smoke washing negative energy away.

i brought my camera
 and best tropical shirt printed with images of tropical fruits and bat droppings to help me identify what i saw as a tourist without alarming the locals in the reeducation camps.

it scared me to see a unification of the formal and the informal sharing the same event of dueling outcomes.

so i have decided to stay home from now on raising bad habits in cages behind the house and sunbathing in the doldrums of unworkable plans unengaged.

preparing for the plan.
