

there is no point in going to group therapy with republicans especially the ones from the south but i did.

someone pointed me out as an environmentalist living the big life without god with the big lies about climate change and how we are raping the environment.

one of them even asks if the bitch deserved it.

another one says forget that look at these investment returns on rotted out deposits of carbon forms

swimming in thick decomposition...

perhaps we can invest in the future and start
new oil patches
by slaughtering
the heavy concentrations of godless liberals and tossing their evil bodies into big unregulated pits with easy access rights.

republicans and renewable energy.
