

i am never sure about the fundamental questions of existence.

is it better to hear a soft voice calling you from the bed or the one that knows what it is doing or the one that knows what needs to be done.

some choices tear us apart
but when i hear all of them in one voice...

i understand the meaning of the rapture.

rising from the valley of the jehoshaphat.

wf.h.

2024