

we separate light to live in its radiant parts.
wind to live in its smells.
taste to live in its flavors.
sound to live in its waves.
touch to live in its push into flesh.
knowledge to live in its details.
existence to live in its immortality
but when we separate the heart
we live in death even if our heart is still beating.

the separation.
