

the starting point
for all of us is
why should you have to get out of bed in the morning.
if the one who is in bed with you matters.

if the one with you does not matter or you have had enough of living with what they are then
the reason you have to get up
is so you can change the sheets...
and start all over again with someone new.

fresh sheets are religious.
forget the other images of creation
you should know that soiled sheets are creation.

o god
o god
cannot be washed out of the o yes.
