

of course there are preconceptions.

the human is preconceived with innumerable ways

to exist in preconditions afterwards.

the dog is preconceived with innumerable ways

to exist in preconditions afterwards.

what is the difference between preconditions

before they exist in the sameness of existence

before transformation expands...

it is in the center of all creation stories

in the creation of the beginning of all creations

and then there was.

there are preconceptions.
