

resonating spoken word vision of his vision he is a new age assertivist.

legs folded.

ancestor incenses.

candlelight services.

indoor crystal wind chimes.

he told the group circled around him...

worldly possessions separate us.

surrender those things in our journey.

the universe does not have any walls around it.

i may be unenlightened but it is clear to me that there is one...

it is called ignorance.

and a lot of skulls are embedded in it.

the chanting stopped

rising from the mat he said i was the choking sound of a metaphysical whirlpool swallowing the center of its self...

wall around it.
