

religious grip.

scientific field.

philosophical consideration.

what does all this discussion about death and life really mean.

what is the difference between death and life and existence and nonexistence.

if you say the word nonexistence
nonexistence exists but not as existence.
anyway there is a preclusion
when it is never about you as you say it about others and other things.

i think and sense it is spiritually declassée
to hang out with words like death and life...
they want to be in the cult of absolute annihilation.
while existence
and nonexistence want to cavort.
in the fields of spring and its imagination.

what is all this.
