

clinically everyone walks in through the same door but it is not clinical the way she walks through it.
she has operatic hair and absolute vengeance on her breath moving in a compulsive performance... i do not think that anything about her body is dormant.

the first thing that comes to my mind is physics and rapid oxidation.

when physics meets the flesh.
wf.h.
2018