

wondering if i was stuck in archaic attitudes and feeling a little awkward talking to the drag queen about archetypes and individuation barriers and impacts limits and boundaries the queen accustomed to holding court waved her hand over her head displacing the rancid air of historical condemnations and laughed saying... well dear
some people are more attached to the necessity of gravity than the possibilities of imagination.

wondering if i was.
